SOME PUBLICATIONS OF INTEREST TO UPLAND GAME BIRD BREEDERS

Compiled in the Section of Food Habits
Division of Wildlife Research

Publications in this list deal primarily with propagation of gallinaceous game birds, although a few selected references on management and related subjects are also included. Publications known to be out of print, unless they are considered of special value, are not listed. Magazine articles, because of their more or less ephemeral nature, are likewise not included. Many of the publications may be consulted in, or borrowed through, libraries; others may be obtained by communicating with the publishers, State game agencies, or other issuing institutions.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS

Publications preceded by a star (*) in this section can be obtained only by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., at the prices stated. Those not preceded by a star can be obtained free as follows: Department of Agriculture publications, so long as the supply lasts, from the Office of Information, U. S.
